VOTCHI – Biography

VOTCHI are a Czech progressive hard rock band blending powerful guitar-driven rock with melodic art rock, expressive flute and atmospheric keyboards. Since forming in late 1999, the band has built a reputation for energetic live performances and a distinctive musical identity that combines technical musicianship with memorable melodies.

Over the years, VOTCHI have performed hundreds of concerts throughout the Czech Republic and abroad. They have shared the stage with legendary acts including Whitesnake, Deep Purple, Nazareth, Uriah Heep and Colosseum, and became the first Czech band ever to perform at Liverpool's iconic Cavern Club. The band continues to appear regularly at festivals, clubs and major public events.

Their catalogue includes four studio albums, a live DVD and the EP Out Of Love (2023). Following the breakthrough debut Scary Woman (2002), VOTCHI released Unicorn (2004), New Religion (2008) and Out of Jail (2015), the latter produced in collaboration with American producer Ian Kelosky and featuring several international guest musicians.

A new chapter began in 2024 when Peter Aristone joined the band as lead vocalist, bringing a fresh vocal approach and new songwriting energy. In 2025, VOTCHI released the single Silicon King through the Canadian label SODEH Records. The song received airplay on rock radio stations in the Czech Republic and abroad and has appeared in several independent rock charts across Europe and the United States.

Today, VOTCHI continue to combine the spirit of classic progressive rock with a modern production style, delivering powerful live performances and new music for audiences both at home and internationally.
